CODE OF ETHICS: "Breeders are obligated to keep accurate records, to refrain from the introduction of other breeds of pigs or hogs to be presented for Registration or Progeny Testing, to practice honesty in all its forms in dealing with genetics of one's herd of American Guinea hogs and in dealing with the public and potential purchasers of one's stock, to conduct oneself with dignity and honesty at any breed organization public function in such a manner that enhances the image of American Guinea Hogs. Breeders are obligated to register their litters within 90 days of farrowing, and/or to register their eligible American Guinea Hogs with AGHA prior to sale, prior to use in breeding."

Purchasers of registered American Guinea Hogs should make every effort to become members of the AGHA. They may not advertise themselves as an AGHA breeder, nor may they be listed as a breeder on the AGHA website until such time that they become members.

Membership with the American Guinea Hog Association, Inc. is for one year starting on the day that your application is received and continuing until that date the following calendar year. Membership fees are due annually. Members are required to register their eligible Guinea Hogs with the AGHA prior to sale or use in breeding.

I have read and agree to abide by the entirety of Article 9 of the AGHA Bylaws, which includes the Code of Ethics and Registration Requirements.
